Project and Team Moderators

For people having role of project moderators.

In NULL PROJECT category, you'll have an extra channel available that is not available for other project contributors - `#assign-projects` and for teams it will be `#assign-team`

Since, we cannot give any one access to any projects or teams, the moderators will have to do it manually.

People can request to be added in a project using the `#request-projects` channel and then the project moderators will have to write the following command to assign that user, project role.

Similarly, people can request to be added in a team using the `#request-team` channel and then the team moderators will have to write the following command to assign that user, team role.

Example

Suppose there is a user - krAshwin , who wants to join the `osint` project and asks in the #requests channel.

So, the person with the `@osint-mod` role will come to `#assign-projects` channel and type the following command that is in the format: (Same applies for the team moderators)

!role @username project-role

The project roles will be specified in the pinned message. To see the pinned message click on the pin icon in the top right corner.

Type the same command to remove a person from the project. Once, the project role will be given to anyone the project channel will be available to them.
